 (2) Source data: Bloomberg. Performance are calculated on a cumulative basis for: (i) monthly period; (ii) year-to-date (period from the 1st of January of the current year till the report date); and on actuarial basis for periods of over one year return. The reinvestment of the gross dividends is taken into account for the calculation of the returns. Share-class NAV first date for A-share and B-share is 10/03/2023.  Returns are based on historical data, which offer no guarantee of future returns.
 (3) Volatility is defined as a statistical measure of the dispersion of returns. Volatility is measured as the variance between returns from the sub-funds. Volatility is annualized and calculated on a daily basis since inception. Maximum drawdown is defined as the maximum observed loss from a peak to a trough of the sub-fund Net Asset Value, before a new peak is attained. Maximum drawdown is an indicator of downside risk calculated since inception. The Sharpe ratio is used to help investors understand the return of an investment compared to its risk. The ratio is calculated since inception as the annualized return per unit of annualized volatility.

Risk Indicator - SRRI (Synthetic Risk and Reward Indicator)

The above risk level is calculated on the basis of the sub-fund's volatility over the medium term (5 years) or on a simulation if the sub-fund was created within that period. The volatility of the sub-fund may fluctuates over time, which may change its risk level.

The SRRI accounts for the market risk and risk on capital. The sub-fund does not guarantee a protection on the capital invested by investors and therefore investors' capital fluctuates overtime. The risk/return profil indicated above can be essentially explained by the presence of equity in the portfolio. For more information concerning the risks, please refer to the prospectus and KIIDs.

Risks that are not necessarily included in SRRI but which may lead to NAV changes

- Liquidity risk: Risk that positions cannot be liquidated in time at reasonable prices.
- Operational risks: the sub-fund may lose some or all its money in case of failure in assets custody, fraud, corruption, political action or any other undisable events.
- Management risk: under abnormal market conditions, the usual management techniques may be ineffective or unfavourable.
- Credit risk: The risk of default by an issuer or a counterparty exists but is low.
- Inflation risk: can emerge due to the characteristics of some targeted markets.
- Sustainability risk: High. The sustainability risk is considered as material. Sustainability risk means the occurrence of an environmental, social or governance event or situation that could potentially or actually have a negative impact on the value of the sub-fund's investment.
